GETTYSBURG FRIDAY APRIL 15 1910

PRICE TWO CENTS

A DEMONSTRATOR

For "Ara-Notch" Collars will be with us Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week

And will have charge of the Demonstration in the show window on the corner of the Square and Chambersburg St.

You don't know what an "Ara-Notch" Collar is? IT'S THE BEST CLOSE FITTING COLLAR ON THE MARKET

It has a Notch that takes the place of the button hole that bothered one so much in wide folded close fitting collars. It not only makes the collar sit perfectly, but it keeps it closed and in its proper position. It does away with spreading sagging and binding, torn button holes, collar buttoners, and torn finger nails.

DEMONSTRATION on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 18, 19 and 20.

WOULD BURN HIS FATHER'S BARN

McSherrystown Boy Assaults his Father and then Sets Fire to Stable. Arrested and Held for Hearing.

Harry Small, son of David Small, of Midway, aged about 20 years, was arrested by Constable Dougherty, of McSherrystown, on four warrants issued by Justice George L. Rice, of that place, charging him on oath of his father, with assault and battery and attempted arson; on oath of Gregory Welsh with surety of the peace, and with carrying concealed deadly weapons on oath of Constable John Dougherty.

Young Small was arrested in Hanover by Officer Duttera and held until the arrival of Constable Dougherty from McSherrystown. The latter arrived with the warrants and took his prisoner to McSherrystown, where he was placed in the lock-up until 2.30 p. m. Thursday for a hearing before Justice Rice.

Small, it is alleged, assaulted his father and made various threats. The young man, by his own admission to Officer Duttera, said that after assaulting his father he set fire to his father's stable.

A young man named Gouker procured a bucket of water and was on his way to the barn to extinguish the flames when Small, it is alleged, kicked the bucket from his hands. Neighbors who saw smoke issuing from the burning building ran to the barn and extinguished the flames with but slight damage.

LOCAL PEOPLE SELECTED

Delegates to the annual meeting of the Church of the Brethren to be held at Winona Lake, Indiana, next month, were chosen at the annual meeting of the Southern District of Pennsylvania held in Waynesboro, and much other important business was transacted.

The southern district comprises Franklin, Adams, York, Cumberland, Juniata, Dauphin, Union and Lebanon counties, and about fifty delegates were in attendance.

The delegates chosen to Winona Lake were: C. L. Baker, of East Berlin; E. L. Miller, Lineboro, Md.; Alternates: C. L. Foutz, Gettysburg; W. A. Anthony, Shady Grove. These officers were elected by ballot: C. L. Baker, East Berlin, moderator; E. S. Miller, Lineboro, Md., assistant moderator; W. A. Anthony, Shady Grove, reading clerk; F. Anthony, Waynesboro, writing clerk; B. F. Lightner, Gettysburg, assistant writing clerk; E. S. Miller, of Lineboro, and A. S. Hershey, of York, were elected directors of the Old Folks Home in Cumberland county to fill the place of two directors whose terms have expired.

The Rev. Albert Hollinger and the Rev. C. L. Foutz, Gettysburg and Edward S. Miller, Lineboro, Md., were appointed a committee to organize the Chambersburg mission into a congregation and locate the boundary lines for it.

The next meeting of the conference will be held in April 1911, with the Marsh Creek congregation, near Gettysburg.

BELIEVE FIRES INCENDIARY

Owners of timber land in the Pigeon Hill, who almost year after year are subjected to heavy loss and much trouble by fires on their tracts of woodland, are coming to the conclusion that most of these visitations are caused by incendiaryism. A movement to organize a protective association is spoken of, the object of which will be to guard the properties of the respective owners against trespassers by strict and comprehensive regulations, and to foster in every way possible methods which will reduce to a minimum the danger of fires breaking out on the lands of the respective owners.

HOW PARKER GOT HIS $70

William B. Hammond Tells of Visit of Faking Seminarian to his Home in Baltimore. Says he Knew Everybody in Gettysburg.

The following communication was received by John D. Lippy this morning from William B. Hammond, of Baltimore, who saw that the elusive Seminarian, Parker, got the cash for his $70.00 Gettysburg National Bank certificate:

Friend Lippy, That preacher would not have gotten into me so hard if that suit of clothes had not fit him so well. He was the nicest looking cuss not to be a preacher that I have seen for many a day. We got so well acquainted and he looked so perfect that, as it was after banking hours, I took the check to the bank myself and had it cashed. Don't send any more of your customers to me unless they have the ready cash.

He knew everybody's pedigree in Gettysburg and I'll bet he could have told me your great grandmother's maiden name if I had asked for it. If get up this summer I will drop in on you and present that check for a suit of clothes like his.

Yours,
Hammond.

SURPRISE PARTY

One of the most pleasant social events of the season was the surprise party given at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller near Fountain Dale, Wednesday evening, the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mr. Miller. The evening was spent in playing games, interspersed with music. At a reasonable hour refreshments consisting of all the delicacies of the season, were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Marker, Mrs. Nettie Martin, Misses Florence Miller, Mary and Mabelle Warren, Ada Stem, Mae Creager, Edith, Nona and Hazel Tresler, Carrie Shuff, Carrie McClain, Mary and Ruth Beard, Della Flohr, Hazel Martin, Cora Harbaugh, Alice McCarney, Hazel Warren, and Messrs. Charles Warren, Wilbur and Chester Harbaugh, Charles and Lee Royer, Curtis Flohr, Lewis Dutrow, Roland Tresler, Charles Creager, Alva Gantz, Norman Beard, Thomas Eyer, Clarence Stem, Herbert Hull, Maurice Wetzel, Thomas Wagerman, C. W. Bloom and Newton McCarney, Howard Willard.

FOUND RELICS

The Philadelphia Press says: "James G. Mitchell, of 1730 South Broad Street, a Civil War veteran, and civil engineer in the employ of the Gettysburg State Monument Association, found four Confederate soldiers' buttons and a small piece of shell on the battlefield last Wednesday on newly upturned soil, near Hancock Avenue and Little Round Top. The spot is the scene of the third day's fight and is where Pickett made his memorable charge. Mr. Mitchell turned the buttons over to the museum of the Grand Army of the Republic. Each one was in good condition considering the years they have been hidden. The letters, C. S. A. are plainly visible."

DRIVING ACCIDENT

Mrs. Samuel Devine, two children, and Miss Francena Breighner, of Edgegrove, were driving in Hanover Wednesday evening when the horse scared at escaping steam. The horse plunged forward and threw Miss Breighner from the buggy and then ran away. The wheels of the vehicle passed over Miss Breighner badly contusing her right limb and body. After running several hundred yards the animal was caught without any further damage. Miss Breighner was taken to her home where she received medical treatment by Dr. G. H. Jordy.

NEW BUILDING FOR BIG GRANGE

South Mountain Grange of Arendtsville Decide to Erect Two Story Brick Structure in that Place.

The South Mountain Grange, of Arendtsville, one of the most thriving organizations of its kind in this section of the state, has decided to erect a new building in that town, the Town Hall in which the meetings have been held being too small now for the needs of the association.

A lot has been purchased on Pearl street and a two story structure will be erected. The second floor will be used for meeting purposes and the first floor will be used as a storage room for goods purchased in bulk which is not convenient for members to remove immediately after arrival. The building will be a substantial brick structure.

Although the Grange has been in existence only a little over a year, more than a hundred members are now enrolled and the organization is in a flourishing condition. Meetings are held on the first and third Wednesday of each month.

The building is going to be put up by a stock company composed of members, a committee having been appointed to sell shares.

ALDERMAN ESSICK

His many friends in New Oxford and Gettysburg will unite in extending congratulations to "His Honor" John W. Essick, Alderman of the Second Ward of the City of Spooner, in the State of Wisconsin.

This intelligence has been conveyed East through the medium of "The Spooner Advocate," which gives in detail the results of the first election held in that place under the new city charter, on Tuesday, April 5th.

The new alderman, John W. Essick, familiarly known in this place and vicinity as "Puss Essick," was formerly employed as a telegrapher. Several years ago he located at Spooner, Wisconsin.

That he drifted into politics will be a surprise to his friends in this vicinity. Spooner, Wisconsin, has developed in a few years from a village of 500 to a city of 16,000 and Mr. Essick was one of six aldermen elected to administer municipal law. The "Advocate" contains a fine half tone portrait of the new official.

FOURTH DISTRICT RALLY

The Sabbath School rally in the fourth district of Adams county, known as the East Berlin District, was held at Hampton on Thursday afternoon and evening, in the Reformed Church. This district is composed of all the Sabbath schools in Hampton, East Berlin, Abbottstown, New Oxford, Hamilton and Berwick townships, numbering twelve schools.

Miss Robison, of Bloomsburg, addressed both meetings, making a very strong plea for separate rooms for primary classes. Where this is impossible she urged the primary teachers to separate their classes from the main school by curtains or screens, thus making it possible for them to do more effective work with the children.

The need for organization of more teacher training classes in the schools was discussed at the evening session, and such classes will no doubt be organized in the schools at Hampton and East Berlin in the near future.

OPENING OF TROUT SEASON

Season for Catching the Speckled Beauties Opens. Reports from Various Parts of the State Say that Fishing will be Good.

With the opening of the trout season today many town and county anglers betook themselves to mountain streams to seek the "speckled beauties." The opening of the season is always looked forward to in this section and the local followers of the sport anticipate enjoyable days during the next few months.

For years the interest in fishing has been growing steadily in this county and, while town anglers seek the bass more than any other member of the "finny tribe," the county fishermen, particularly those in the mountain districts, prefer the wily trout. All hope for a good season this year.

In spite of the absence of rain, Fish Commissioner William E. Meehan says the prospects are good for the trout season which will continue until July 31.

"According to all accounts, trout fishing this year will be excellent," said the commissioner. "With the exception of Susquehanna several county streams and several others where the drought has affected the creeks, fishing will be unusually good. It is probable that no very large fish will be caught, but there should be plenty from six to eight inches in the waters. Some streams have already been fished for trout, but I do not believe this will affect the sport. Reports from the best fishing streams really contain many trout. The streams in Clinton, Clearfield, Lycoming, Monroe, and Pike, are all said to be in the best of condition for trout fishing and all of these streams are well stocked."

In order that the brook trout angler may avoid trouble and the vigilance of fish wardens, who are more numerous this season than ever, he should paste the following in his hat and live up to the rules. They will minimize the danger and expense of angling.

Legal trout season, April 15 to August 1.

None less than six inches.
Not more than forty in a day.
No Sunday fishing.
With rod, line and three hooks only.
Purchase or sale forbidden.

CENSUS BEGINS

Beginning today the 1910 census of the United States started and thousands of census enumerators will be at work for the next two weeks all over the country.

Adams County's squad of enumerators will begin early and they have their instructions down pat. All sorts of questions will be asked and one need not hesitate as answers are held strictly confidential; there is quite a heavy penalty for violations by the enumerators.

The questions will deal with names, ages of children, occupations, divorce, marriages, deaths, American or foreign births, professions, trades, ability to read and write, service in either the United States or Confederate army and navy, whether the home is owned or rented and if the former, whether it is mortgaged.

Edward R. Griel, of York, who is supervisor of the collection of data for the census of manufacturers, mines and quarries in York and Adams counties, has been advised by the Washington department that Irvin A. Eisenhart, West York; Maurice W. Nail, Hanover, and Charles A. Deatrick, Gettysburg, have successfully passed the examination and have been appointed to assist him.

MRS. ELEANOR WOLF

Mrs. Eleanor Wolf, widow of Dr. F. C. Wolf, of East Berlin, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Kerchner, in York, on Monday evening. She was taken suddenly ill while on a visit. She was aged 70 years, 6 months and 2 days.

The remains were taken to her home in East Berlin on Tuesday evening, and the funeral held Thursday morning. Interment in Union Cemetery, East Berlin, services being held in the Reformed Church, Rev. W. H. Miller officiating.

STRAY HORSE FOUND

A bay mare came to the premises of W. H. Lippy, near Schwartz's school house, Wednesday morning. Mr. Lippy took charge of the animal, and made inquiries as to its ownership, with the result that the mare was claimed next day by H. W. Parr, of Hanover, from whose stables she had wandered away.

CONTRACT FOR THE LINK

According to advices from New York, contracts for the construction of the Western Maryland's extension from Cumberland, Md., to Connelville, have been awarded to the Carter Construction Company of Pittsburg. There were nine bidders, but the lowest bid was made by the above named firm. Bids for the construction of this extension were divided into three sections, and it was expected that the contracts would be awarded to several different concerns in order to facilitate its completion, as it is desired to have the new line in operation as soon as possible. The line is to be 83 miles in length and will give the Western Maryland entrance into Pittsburg over the Pittsburg and Lake Erie, with which it has a 99-year traffic agreement. It is believed that the United States Steel Corporation is closely affiliated with the Carter Construction Company. The new line will cost about $12,000,000 to construct and equip.

SWINDLED OUT OF MILLIONS

Illinois Central Railroad Victim of Huge Plot.
ABOUT $5,000,000 STOLEN

Scores of Detectives Uncover Peculations Covering a Period of Four Years—President of Road May Resign.
 Chicago, Ill., April 15.—Five million dollars is declared to be not an extravagant estimate of the sum that the Illinois Central railroad has been swindled out of by an alleged conspiracy that is being investigated.
 Although the sum that the railroad is alleged to have lost was early set at $1,000,000, the revelations made by the inquiry of the detectives put on the case by President James T. Harahan are declared to have raised this figure until now it is near $5,000,000.
 W. J. Burns, the San Francisco graft investigator, and seventy-five operatives under him are doing the work, which covers a period of four years' peculations and has reached to nearly every city upon the line of the Illinois Central railroad.
 It is declared that President Harahan, whose resignation has been rumored for some time, will leave the service of the railroad within a short time. Much of the work, if not all of it, and the responsibility for the system that he heads, has been taken from his shoulders by W. L. Parks, the new vice president. The failure of the St. Louis Terminal railroad, at the annual meeting in St. Louis, to re-elect Mr. Harahan as a member of the directorate, is taken as the first actual step to place Mr. Parks in the position at the head of the system. Mr. Parks was elected a director of the St. Louis Terminal in place of Mr. Harahan. The St. Louis Terminal railroad is controlled jointly by the Illinois Central and by the Chicago & Alton.
 Mr. Harahan's salary as president is $40,000 per year. He is nearly seventy years old.

'ORGY' PROBE FINISHED

Governor Fort Decides Plan of Action in Legislature Scandal.
 Trenton, N. J., April 15.—Governor Fort announced that after consultation with Attorney General Edmund Wilson that his decision on a plan of action on the charges of "orgies" in the house of assembly during the closing night of the legislature would be announced today. He refused to say what he intended doing, but it was immediately rumored that he would call a special session of the legislature.
 Behind the rumor was the insistence of many Republican leaders that the senate come back to confirm the nomination of John Rotherham, of Hudson county, to the tax board of that county, and rumor had it that this was weighing more with the governor than the scandal charges and had stated publicly that they had been grossly exaggerated.

TO PROBE GRAFT CHARGES

N. Y. Senate Passes Resolution For Investigation by Joint Committee.
 Albany, N. Y., April 15.—The senate unanimously adopted a resolution providing for a joint legislative committee of three senators and five assemblymen to investigate corrupt methods in connection with legislation and the administration of state departments. The resolution carries an appropriation of $50,000.
 Assemblyman William M. Bennett, who represents Governor Hughes' district, demanded that the assembly act upon the resolution at once, but he apologized when he was informed that the rules prohibited immediate action because the resolution carried an appropriation of money.

DOG HANGS HIMSELF

Hermit's Companion Broods Over Death of Fellow Playmate.
 Cambridge, Md., April 15.—Grant, the faithful dog and companion of James Crothers, the well known hermit of this place, committed suicide by hanging himself on the garden fence at his master's home.
 "Uncle Jimmie" lived alone with his dog on Bunker's alley. A week or so ago a neighbor's dog, that had been companion and playmate of Crothers' dog since the days of their puppyhood, died, and from that day Grant lost interest in everything, growing worse each day.
 He gave his master the cold shoulder by refusing to follow him or eat from his hand. He ended it all by hanging himself on the garden fence.

Phonographic Thunder For Play.

ROUNDING INTO SHAPE.

James J. Jeffries in His Training Camp at Ben Lomond, Cal.

JEFFRIES WORRIES

Wife to Undergo Operation He Fears For Her Safety.
 Ben Lomond, Cal., April 15.—James J. Jeffries is much worried over the condition of his wife, who will soon undergo an operation, and he says that until she recovers and he is relieved of apprehension regarding her illness he will indulge in only very light training work.
 This decision of the fighter has been received with satisfaction by his camp companions, who have indicated anxiety that Jeffries was plunging too heavily into the conditioning process for his fight with Johnson.
 Jeffries' movements of the last three or four days are taken as a tacit admission that he put too much hard work into the first half dozen days of his training. Though always a hard worker and seemingly more determined to win his fight with Johnson than any other of his career, Jeffries started off at a clip that led his trainers to fear that he might go stale long before July 4.

PLAN WAY TO FREE BRIBERS

Claim Present Grand Jury is Illegal.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—Immunity for every alleged bribe taker and bribe giver indicted by the present grand jury may result from a line of defense adopted by the attorneys representing the accused men. Inaction will be their method of fighting until one man is convicted. Then an appeal will be carried to the highest court on the ground that the present grand jury is illegal. Should the higher courts sustain this appeal, all graft cases will fall, for the decision can hardly be handed down before the statute of limitations will have barred the indictment of the men named in the graft cases.
 The line of defense laid bare explains the quiet which followed a decision by Judge Frazer that the grand jury was legally constituted. It had been said that Attorney William J. Brennan, who first raised the question of the grand jury's being illegally constituted, would move for a hearing at which he would question the statement that Harrison Nesbit, foreman of the jury, is an elector and qualified to serve on juries. To have done this would have settled the question of the jury's legality, and had it been declared an illegally constituted jury, then a new one could have been drawn to indict the accused men again.
 The statute of limitations will bar indictment of all the accused on June 8 of this year. Even one of the accused men can hardly be brought to trial, convicted and a decision made on his appeal to the superior court before that time.

CHILD A SUICIDE

Little Girl Arranged Playthings and Took Poison.
 Pittsburg, Pa., April 15.—Falling to reach the high standard in her studies required in her school, Mildred Stewart, thirteen years old, of 2709 Carey alley, South Side, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. The child had made all arrangements for her death. A note telling the reason for her act was found lying beside her body. All of her playthings had been carefully arranged and put away. The letter left by the little girl, in which she tells her troubles, was found by her father, William Stewart.

Explosion Kills Five.

Morristown, N. J., April 15.—A premature explosion of dynamite at the Andover cut-off near Netcong cost the lives of five men and dangerously injured four more. The accident happened at a point where the Lackawanna railroad is making a short cut on the main line to Buffalo. At the office of the contractor no details of the explosion could be obtained.

BEST WAY TO FEED CORN.

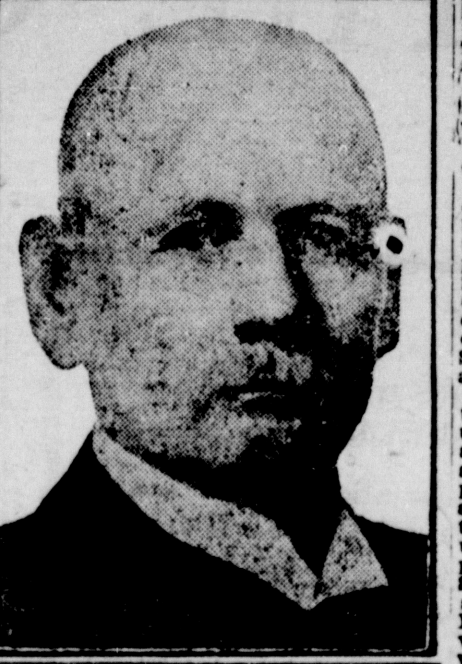

Since corn is the chief article of diet in those states where hog raising is carried on extensively the question of the feeding of it in the most economical form is a live one for every feeder. Realizing this fact and with a view to securing data that would be of practical value for the feeder, the directors of the Iowa experiment station at Ames have been conducting exhaustive feeding experiments for the past three years with a view to finding out in what form corn should be fed to give the largest as well as the most economical gains. A bulletin recently published by the station gives the results of these feeding investigations. A gist of the findings should be of practical aid to every hog raiser who uses corn as a part of the feeding ration. Six forms of corn were used—dry ear corn, soaked shell corn, dry corn meal, soaked corn meal, dry corn and cob meal and soaked corn and cob meal. It was found that shelling cost 1 cent per bushel, shelling and grinding 3 cents and grinding corn and cob meal 6 cents.
 In the tests made in 1907 100 pounds of dry ear corn made as much pork as 112 pounds of shelled corn soaked twenty-four hours or 122 pounds of corn meal soaked twelve hours. In the 1908 tests shelled corn soaked twelve hours gave slightly the fastest gains. It was found that, whether dry or soaked, a bushel of corn ground without the cob made more pork than a bushel of corn ground with the cob, while a bushel of ear corn made as much gain as one and one-third bushels ground into corn and cob meal at a cost of 6 cents per bushel. Other interesting features of the experiments might be given, but the practical lesson of the tests, according to the experimenters, is summarized in the statement that up to 200 pounds in weight the fastest as well as the most economical gains may be secured by feeding dry ear corn, while for hogs above this weight the best results are had with shelled corn soaked twelve hours. These results will be gratifying to the average feeder, for the method of feeding which gives best results is that in which there is a minimum outlay of time and expense in the preparing and feeding of the ration.

TAFT FAVORS STATE ROADS.

Chief Executive Thinks the Highway Question Not a National Matter.
 National aid for permanent roads, a system of national highways connecting the capital of the various states and of state highways connecting the various county seats, use of federal prisoners for building roads and the establishment of roadmaking on a strictly business basis are some of the suggestions made at the good roads convention.
 A letter from President Taft declared against national aid to any great extent. The president says: "My own view of the good roads question is that it is chiefly a state function and that all the states ought to unite in an effort to promote good roads. I do not think that the farmers are as much interested in the matter as they ought to be."
 "Next to education, the system of good roads is the greatest civilizer."

WON $5000 FOR "YES" TO DEATHBED BRIDE

Lawyer Gets That Amount For Legal Advice.

Chicago, April 15.—Lawyer Seth F. Crews was given $5000 by Judge Pinckney in the circuit court for advising Sarah Peterson that it would be legal for her to marry John R. Smith, a wealthy mine owner, on his deathbed.
 Miss Peterson married Smith and he died almost immediately. When his estate was probated she got $350,000.
 Mr. Crews thought that if Miss Peterson's "Yes" was worth $350,000 his "Yes" ought to be worth a tenth of that sum. He brought suit for $35,000.
 Mrs. Smith's defense was that she had not married Smith for his money. Judge Pinckney intimated that he held a contrary view.
 "I do not see why a woman should marry a man on his deathbed, as Mrs. Smith did," he said.

Free Dyspepsia Sample

Sufferers from indigestion are waking up to the fact that peppermint lozenges, charcoal and "dyspepsia cures" are only makeshifts in the cure of so troublesome a complaint as chronic indigestion. What is required is something that will not only relieve but which will tone and train the digestive apparatus to again do its work normally, and this these simple remedies cannot do.
 There is something more to the cure of indigestion than to sweetening the breath, and yet a remedy that only contains digestive ingredients will not cure permanently, as the basis of indigestion is poor bowel circulation, and that requires a scientific laxative. We know of no remedy that combines these requirements better than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has been sold for a quarter of a century.
 Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a laxative tonic, a scientific blending of natural ingredients for the cure of constipation, indigestion, liver trouble, sour stomach, sick headache and similar complaints. Its ingredients will so strengthen and tone the stomach and bowel muscles that they will again do their work naturally, and when that has been accomplished your trouble is over. Fannie Stuart, Staunton, Va., was a long-time sufferer, as was O. Tuck, Blackburn, Mo., and they both found their cure with this remedy. They became constipated cures, W. B. Caldwell, M.D., "dyspepsia cures," etc., were at best only temporary relief. They first accepted Dr. Caldwell's offer of a free sample bottle, which he willingly sends to anyone who forwards name and address. Later, having convinced themselves through the free sample, they bought Syrup Pepsin from their druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.
 Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card otherwise. For either request the doctor's address to Dr. W. RAINEY FLAYS SUGAR TRUST

Hits at Mr. Taft in Speech in Congress.

SHIELDING MEN HIGHER UP

Charges the President and Wickersham With Protecting Big Men in Fraud Cases.

Washington, April 15.—In delivering a scathing denunciation of the American Sugar Refining company in the house of Representatives, Representative Rainey, of Illinois, did not hesitate to make bold suggestions concerning "that most corrupt and rotten trust ever created by the protective tariff system," and President Taft, Attorney General Wickersham and Henry W. Taft, a brother of the president.

Mr. Rainey referred to President Taft's message sent to congress about a year ago in which the president advised against an investigation of the sugar trusts by congress for the reason that "it might, by giving immunity and otherwise, prove an embarrassment in securing conviction of the guilty parties."

Reviewing the history of the sugar trust, and especially recent fraudulent acts in underweighing raw sugar for the purpose of defrauding the government of millions of revenue, Mr. Rainey said:

Jail Doors Were Open.
"The situation in brief is as follows: 'Prominent stockholders and directors of the sugar trust are in grave danger, or at least they were not long ago; the doors of our penitentiaries were opening for many of them. They have, however, succeeded, through their control of the Republican party, in bringing about this most delightful arrangement:'

"The attorney general of the United States was, until his appointment, a sugar trust attorney, familiar with the methods of the sugar trust, exhibiting even now a remarkable sympathy for its officials in their difficulties."

"The general counsel for the sugar trust is a former assistant attorney general of the United States, loyal to the Republican party, familiar with the methods and with the secrets of the attorney general's office."

"The brother of the president of the United States is one of the attorneys for the sugar trust."

"J. E. Parsons, the father of the former president of the New York county Republican committee, is under indictment on account of his offense against the law in Philadelphia."

"And the president of the United States has advised against a congressional investigation of the sugar trust, for the reason that it might prove embarrassing."

"The last of the frauds committed by the sugar trust occurred on the 20th day of November, 1907. The statute of limitations is running every day and will soon become a complete bar against any criminal prosecution that may be brought. The Republican party is charged with the administration of affairs in this house. Two hundred and nineteen Republican members sit on the other side of this chamber, and since the message of the president of the United States was read in this house not one of them has lifted his voice against the sugar trust or in favor of an investigation by congress."

Mr. Rainey proceeded to review many incidents in the career of the sugar trust, which he declared reached out through political parties and corrupted men "as no other law defying corporation has ever been able to do."

Refers to Pittsburgh.

"I respectfully contend," concluded Mr. Rainey, "that the Republican majority in this house cannot afford to longer delay a congressional investigation; and the millionaire malefactors who control the sugar trust and who are responsible for the perpetration of these gigantic frauds ought to be held up to the contempt of the country. In Pittsburgh they have learned how to reach the men higher up. They simply propose immunity to the men whose conviction is not important, but who are only tools in the hands of the principal malefactors, and as a result minor city officials were a few days ago coming by scores in Pittsburgh to the office of the prosecuting attorney implicating the real criminals. And the time may not be far distant when men who pass in Pittsburgh as respectable citizens will pay the penalty to which their criminal conduct has rendered them liable."

"The attorney general of the United States, however, commences his prosecutions and ends them with unimportant officials and a week checkers, and the real persons guilty of the most colossal fraud in the history of our government are permitted to go about without punishment, without exposure, still posing as honest men still willing and still able to contribute to the campaign funds of the Republican party."

MAY CHIRP IN PEACE

New York Assembly Passes Law Forbidding Sale of Bird Feathers.

LAW TO PROTECT BIRDS

Many States Fighting to Prevent Their Slaughter for Plumage.

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—The fight to stop the slaughter of birds for use as trimmings on hats is gaining strength, judging from the manner in which the legislatures of a number of states are passing bills favoring the protection of birds.

By a vote almost unanimous the New York assembly passed a measure by which the sale of plumage will be forbidden even though the birds were not killed in the state.

The New Jersey legislative body, which has been considering an anti-bird slaughtering bill for some time, will again renew the fight and in all probability vote favorably on a measure whereby our feathered neighbors may fly at ease and not be shot down to adorn the top of some twentieth century creation.

COCAINE HORRORS APPALL PRESIDENT

Will Aid in Every Way Possible to Suppress Traffic.

Washington, April 15.—The different forms in which the drug cocaine is prepared for sale to its victims were exhibited to President Taft by Dr. Joseph P. Remington, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee on revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia, which will hold its next convention in this city on May 10. Dr. Remington told the president that the illicit sale of cocaine had grown to proportions in this country that seriously threatened future citizenship.

It had been discovered in Philadelphia, he said, that the drug was sold in large quantities to school children, hundreds of them having been debauched through its agencies. Restrictive laws in cities and states were ineffective, he said, because the drug could be obtained by mail from other states. What was needed was national legislation under the interstate commerce clause of the constitution, that would forbid the handling or sale of the medicine except by licensed druggists and physicians.

The president was appalled by the facts told him and promised to give his aid in any way possible.

One of the robbers shot at but missed S. E. Paul, assistant cashier of the bank, as Paul ran to the institution following the explosion, which wrecked the entire front of the bank building.

Langford Knocks Out Barry.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 15.—Sam Langford, after putting it all over Jim Barry in their fight at the Vernon Arena, knocked Barry out in the sixteenth round with a right swing to the jaw. At no stage of the game was Langford in any danger, as he blocked most of Barry's dangerous blows.

Poisoned Whisky Kills Two More.
Providence, R. I., April 15.—Two more deaths in Westerly brings the total from whisky poisoning up to twelve. John McAvoy, aged fifty-eight years, of Westerly, and Rossini Patti, a shoemaker, of Pawtucket, are the last victims.

ROOSEVELT SEES VENICE BY NIGHT

Impressed by Trip Through Canal in Darkness.

DUKE OF ABRUZZI CALLS

Gondola Ride in Utter Blackness of Night Finer Than Moonlight, Declares Former President.

Venice, Italy, April 15.—Former President Roosevelt was rowed through a stretch of the Canal Grande in the darkness of the early morning and declared the experience to be more impressive than a sight of Venice by moonlight.

Colonel Roosevelt arrived here by train at 3 o'clock in the morning and departed at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon for Vienna.

The former president was accompanied from Porto Maurizio by Kermit Roosevelt, Lawrence Abbott, two secretaries and several American newspaper men. He was met at the railway station by the American consul, James V. Long and Commander Andrew T. Long, American naval attaché at Rome and Vienna.

The party entered hooded gondolas, which threaded their way swiftly through the narrow canals to the hotel where apartments had been reserved. The reflection of the street lights in the inky waters, the gloomy facades of beautiful places rising on either side and the quiet of the hour, broken only by the melancholy cries of the gondoliers as corners were approached, were commented upon by Colonel Roosevelt and his son, both of whom enjoyed the trip immensely.

Reaching the hotel, the Roosevelts retired at once, but were up again at 3 o'clock, and after breakfast started out on a sight seeing tour. They visited St. Mark's Cathedral, a monument of the ancient magnificence of Venice; the Palace of the Doges, several museums, the Bridge of Sighs, and Verrocchio's statue of Bartholomew Coloni.

They returned to their hotel and a few minutes later a gorgeous launch pulled up to the landing stage of the hotel and the Duke of the Abruzzi stepped out. The duke was dressed in civilian clothes. He was attended by the Marquis Turazzo, his aide, in full uniform. The duke was conducted immediately to Colonel Roosevelt's apartments. The duke on taking his leave greeted the American newspaper men with a smile, but did not wait to be interviewed. Stepping quickly to the landing he jumped into his launch, the Nella, the boatman called out "Shove off," and the duke was gone.

MARK TWAIN BACK VERY ILL

Doctor Attends Him For Heart Trouble When Steamer Reaches New York.

New York, April 15.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) arrived here from Bermuda seriously ill with heart trouble. He was confined to his berth on the steamer Oceana throughout the entire trip, and his condition is a source of grave alarm to his friends.

It is recognized that the Bermuda trip, so far as restoring his shattered health was concerned, was a failure, and his condition is now no better if as good as when he sailed shortly after his daughter's sudden death last winter. The author was accompanied on his trip by his secretary, who returned with him.

Mr. Clemens' vitality was so low when the vessel reached the dock that it was feared he would die.

COW DEAD; TAFTS MOURN

Mooley Ate Too Much Oats, With Fatal Consequences.

Washington, April 15.—"Mooley," the pet cow and pure milk provider of the White House, is dead. The aristocratic animal was allowed the exclusive privilege of grazing on the White House lawns and the big White House lot. Insufficient green grass at this season of the year led "Mooley" the other night to wander about the stable in search of food. She found an open oat bin and helped herself too freely to a grain intended for horses and work animals. Consequently she became ill.

Strenuous efforts were made by a veterinary surgeon to save her life, but they were in vain. The loss of "Mooley" is mourned at the White House.

Youth Confesses Murder of Woman.

Richmond, Ind., April 15.—Charles Revalde, aged nineteen years, suspected of having beaten and burned to death Mrs. Frank Allison at her home near Cambridge City, is said by Chief of Police Georgan to have confessed. He gave robbery as the motive of the crime.

Bryan on His Way Home.

San Juan, P. R., April 15.—William J. Bryan has sailed for New York. Mr. Bryan plans to return to his home in Nebraska, soon afterwards visiting Texas. He expects to sail for Scotland in May.

forty pounds per square yard. This was forced into the voids by two rollings. Then another similar layer of asphalt was applied, rolled twice, left to stand until the next day, then rolled again. The same plan was followed during the two succeeding days, the road being closed to traffic and one rolling each day being given. The road was then opened to traffic.

THEY MAKE YOU BELIEVE

Because They Prove All They Claim.

There is no room for doubt when so many people of good standing are anxious to tell their friends of the great good received from the use of Root Juice. At this point many have been cured, or greatly benefited, of rheumatism, catarrh, indigestion, female weakness or some liver, kidney or stomach trouble. No wonder one friend is often heard advising another to try Root Juice. If you bloat and belch, if food lies heavily on the stomach and pains, if what you eat does not give you strength, if you have swimming of the head, if you are nervous and your entire system is run down, if you are restless at night and feel as tired in the morning as you did when you went to bed, be governed by the experience of others and go to the drug store, get a bottle of Root Juice and take it exactly according to directions. We predict that before you have used one bottle you will be advising your sick friends to get some of this wonderful medicine, for Root Juice always proves all that is claimed for it. One dollar a bottle or three bottles for two dollars and a half at the People's drug store.

FOR CHURNING RESULTS.

Careful Heating of Churning Room and Cleanliness Necessary.

There can be no definite rule laid down as to the temperature at which the cream should be churned, as different creams require different temperatures. The fat is in the form of microscopic globules, and they must have a certain degree of softness if they are to unite. When the cream enters the churn that is properly ripened and contains 26 to 30 per cent fat the temperature should be such that the cream will churn in thirty to forty-five minutes. This will give an exhaustive churning and leave the butter in a condition in which it can be easily handled without injuring the texture.

Before putting the cream in the churn the churn should be thoroughly scalded and as thoroughly chilled with cold water. The advantage of this is that it will freshen the churn and fill the pores in the wood so that the cream and butter will not stick to it. The outside temperature of the churning room should be as nearly as possible the same as the churning temperature. If it is warm the cream will warm up rapidly, and the butter will likely be soft and will require more washing to remove the buttermilk. It is useless to lower the cream rapidly to the churning point just before churning. It should be there at least two hours before churning. The reason for this is that fat is a slow conductor of heat, and although the serum has cooled and the thermometer reads the right temperature, the fat has not actually reached it, and the results would be the same as if churned at an actually higher degree.

Were the work that is incident to the earning of food, fuel and clothing and that involved in getting the same ready for consumption done away with everybody would have leisure and to spare, from the ditch digger and his wife on.

Home Course In Domestic Science

X.—The Modern Kitchen

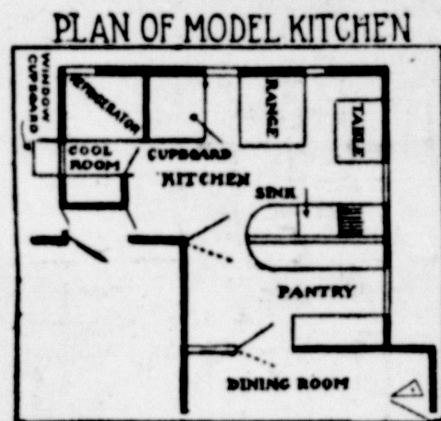

By EDITH G. CHARLTON.
In Charge of Domestic Economy, Iowa State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

CONSIDERING the importance of the kitchen to the rest of the home, it seems strange that it should very often be the least attractive room from every point of view in the house. We find it tucked off in some dark corner with little or no ventilation, its wall and floor covering dark and dingy and its equipment so meager it would be impossible to find any pleasure in working with them.

The kitchen is the workroom of the home. Its arrangement, pleasant or otherwise, very often gives the keynote of conditions in the home. My idea of a real kitchen is this: It should be as bright and cheery as any room in the house. I would much prefer a gloomy parlor than a dark, unpleasant kitchen. If possible I should have a north and east exposure. This would insure sunlight in the morning and a cool breeze on hot summer afternoons. Then I should be careful to have a good view from the kitchen window, something beautiful to look out upon, like a stately tree, a bit of green lawn or a trim vegetable garden. The outlook from kitchens in towns and cities is too often brick walls of adjoining buildings, untidy back yards or high board fences. From kitchens in the country we often look out upon an unsightly woodpile or barnyard filled with a clutter of old farm implements. With such daily views it is no wonder if the women, who must spend three-fourths of their time in the kitchen, have very little love for housework.

There should be at least two windows and, if possible, an outside door opposite one window in order to have good ventilation at all times. The kitchen should not be unnecessarily large, but its size will depend on the number of persons in the family and the amount of work that is to be done

In it. Too much space between the different pieces of furniture necessitates too many unnecessary steps. A suitable moderate sized kitchen is about 12 by 14 feet.

The kitchen should be convenient to the dining room, either opening directly into it or, still better, having the pantry between the rooms. In the latter case there should be a cupboard with sliding doors opening into both kitchen and pantry for convenience in setting the table and removing dishes to the kitchen. The cut gives a plan of a convenient kitchen, showing position of windows and doors, also the larger pieces of furniture.

In this plan note the position of the refrigerator, which can be reached from the outside so that ice may be put into it without coming into the kitchen. There is also a window in the cool room to which a window cupboard can be attached. This room with its cupboard will take the place of the refrigerator in winter and may be used as a baking room in hot weather.

The sink, with draining board, is located on the side next the pantry. Sliding doors are arranged at the back so that dishes washed in the sink may be placed on the pantry shelves without going into the pantry itself. Another convenient feature in the arrangement of this kitchen is the position of windows between range and work table, giving good light and ventilation. If possible avoid having a door leading upstairs opening in the kitchen, because in such cases it is almost impossible to keep the odors of cooking from penetrating to the upstairs rooms.

Wall and Floor Covering.
The kitchen to be sanitary in every particular should be finished in some way that will permit of frequent washing. The best wall covering is the simplest and most easily cared for material that can be purchased. There is nothing better for this purpose than sanitas, a material similar to oilcloth. The first cost is a little more than paint or tinting, but when carefully applied it is more lasting. Sanitas is put on with paste in horizontal strips around the room. The edge of each piece must be pasted down securely, and care should be taken to avoid wrinkles. If a tablespoonful of molasses is added to each quart of paste it will stick more firmly.

The painted wall is suitable for kitchen and pantry provided a flat finish is given and a color used in preference to white. A glossy surface, par-

If cattle are compelled to remain out of doors in the wet and cold during the winter months in the daytime and at night are housed in a damp, nasty, poorly bedded place, the like of which can be found here and there, it is not surprising that they contract tuberculosis. We saw a herd not long since kept under just these conditions, and there did not seem to be a straight backed, full lunged, robust animal in the lot.

icularly a white one, is hard on the eyes and becomes very monotonous. Wall paper is not a desirable covering for a kitchen wall because it absorbs moisture and odors and cannot be cleaned satisfactorily.

For the floor the best covering is in-laid linoleum. This to my mind is better than the polished floor, which is always slippery and is hard on the feet. Then there is the painted floor, which has both advantages and disadvantages, chief among the latter being not very durable qualities. The kitchen floor should not be covered with carpet, because that is insanitary, neither should it be devoid of any covering and so require scrubbing. This is one of the items of work which should be eliminated from the housekeeper's schedule. The white sanded floors, tables, etc., are attractive to the eye and a joy to a certain type of housekeeper, but they represent too much energy and labor to be included in modern methods. Floors should be covered with some material easily cleaned, and tables, sinks, shelves, etc., should be painted or covered with zinc, tile or oilcloth. The zinc table and the tile sink are a lasting pleasure and lessen work to such an extent that they soon more than pay for the initial cost.

Kitchen Furniture.

This should be simple, durable and adequate for the needs of the housekeeper. The kind and number of pieces will largely depend on the character of the home. But in every kitchen there should be a good range, at least one work table and a convenient sink supplied with running water and modern plumbing. These three articles should be near neighbors because they are so frequently used at the same time.

Whatever the fuel—coal, wood, gas or gasoline—it should be burned in a good range, one that is perfect in all its parts and equipped with a good baking oven. No part of the housefurnishing is more important than the kitchen stove and no piece of farm machinery, however necessary, should be bought by sacrificing the new stove. Since the preparation of food for the table is an absolute necessity in every home, the stove, whatever its style, should be as good as any part of the equipment of the entire establishment.

The work table should be high enough that the worker need not stand in an uncomfortable position while ironing or baking. Kitchen tables are made thirty inches high, which is not enough for a woman five feet six inches in height, and to bend over it, as she always must, results in an unnecessary weariness or backache. Either the low table should be set upon supports or a higher one should be ordered. The high stool is a simple piece of furniture which should be in every kitchen. It can be slipped under the work table when not in use and is a convenient seat while preparing vegetables, ironing and doing the numberless other tasks which can be performed sitting just as well as standing.

A clock is necessary in the kitchen, also a pair of strong scissors, a pin-cushion with pins and some coarse needles and thread, both white and black. These are constantly needed, and it makes unnecessary steps to be obliged to go to the living room for them. It is hardly possible to have too many drawers, shelves and cupboards, and yet these ought not to be used to encourage disorderliness. There is sometimes a temptation to hide away things in cupboards or drawers that would better be destroyed at once than have them add to the task of straightening up later on.

The modern kitchen may have other useful pieces of furniture in addition to the above, if there is money enough to provide them. Among these may be mentioned a water or electric motor or even a small one horsepower gasoline engine, any one of which will run the washing machine mangle, churn, cream separator and can be attached to the sewing machine. This little contrivance is not so expensive that it need be excluded from even moderate homes, considering the amount of work it will accomplish and the strength it will save. When a woman is obliged to do all her housework it ought certainly to be counted as one of the necessities. The kitchen cabinet with separate compartments for all kinds of groceries and supplies is sometimes preferred to the pantry. It is entirely a matter of personal preference which should be chosen, for both are most convenient. Reasonable care must, however, be taken not to leave groceries lying about loosely in the cabinet, for these will attract insects as well as mice. But the housekeeper endowed with even the most ordinary degree of order may easily avoid such a misfortune.

The electric or gasoline iron is a handy little appliance for making kitchen work lighter and is inexpensive when usefulness and labor saving qualities are balanced with dollars and cents. In the country, of course, the gasoline iron is generally the only one possible, but these have now been brought to a degree of perfection that makes them satisfactory.

The Use of the Kitchen.

One last important point to remember in furnishing a kitchen is that its real purpose is a workroom, not a living or dining room. A workroom should have its tools conveniently arranged within easy reach of the workman. All utensils and evidences of kitchen work should not be kept in other parts of the house or stowed away in obscure places in order that the room may be presentable when strangers come. The modern kitchen is not intended to fill the place of a reception room, and only in exceptional cases should it be used as a dining room.

A very forceful testimony to the nutritive value of the western range grasses is the fact that during the winter months, when not snow covered, but gnawed close to the roots, it yet keeps the animals that browse on it in fair condition. Were these grasses no more nutritious than those which grow in the fat and well watered valleys of the eastern states cattle, horses and sheep would die of starvation in a few weeks.

WOMAN AT THE HEAD

By SADIE OLCOTT

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

In the little hamlet of Nordhasted, near Meldorf, a singular custom is observed annually. According to tradition, it dates back to the thirteenth century. During that era the hamlet was on one occasion attacked by a band of robbers, and the men of the village were soon compelled to beat a retreat.

Thereupon the women boldly attacked the robbers and not only vanquished them, but also took the leader and several of the band prisoners. As a token of their gratitude the men have ever since allowed the women to celebrate this great event by holding a festival at stated intervals, and on such occasions they exercise no authority themselves, but submit in all things to the will of the women.

Now, there lived in this hamlet a pair of lovers, Carl Koopman and Gretchen Boucher, who had often discussed the relative hardship of men and women's work, Carl averring that women have a very easy time. When a few days before their marriage one of these festivals was to come off Gretchen ordered Carl to report himself at her home, where she lived with her father and mother and a number of younger brothers and sisters aged all the way from fourteen years to three months, and to remain there during the day subject to her directions.

On the day of the festival Carl appeared, good natured, smiling, evidently much pleased at the novel situation of obeying his sweetheart for a whole day. He found Gretchen in care of the family, her father and mother having taken a holiday and gone into Meldorf to enjoy themselves.

"Wash the breakfast dishes," said Gretchen.

Carl went into the kitchen, poured some water into a pan and proceeded to wash the dishes. When he had finished he called Gretchen to inspect his work. She looked over the dishes and put her finger in the dishwasher.

"Stone cold," she said. "Heat some water and do them again. Look at the grease on them."

Carl was a trifle sobered at this, but he was resolved to do his part and obey orders implicitly. He heated some water and washed the dishes again, scolding his fingers at the work. Gretchen permitted him to put the dishes in the cupboard, then told him to do the morning sweeping. He sent the dust up into the room, and it settled on the furniture instead of the floor. After an hour's work Gretchen told him to stop, to get some wet tea leaves, put them on the floor and do the work over.

Having given him a scolding, Gretchen told him that he was to mind the baby while she took the children out for a walk. He was to have the dinner ready by the time they returned.

Carl saw her depart with misgivings. The novelty of the situation was wearing off. The baby was quite peaceful for a time, then suddenly began to howl. Carl took it up and walked about with it for awhile, then put it down again. But the baby was not minded to be put down. The squawling recommenced. Carl took it up again, but the squawling being renewed he repeated the process again and again. In other words, he was obliged to keep the baby in his arms. About noon the child fell asleep on his shoulder, and he laid it in its crib.

It was now time to get the dinner, and Carl congratulated himself upon the baby being eliminated from the problem. Gretchen had put some bacon in one dish and some potatoes which he was to fry in another. This was all the cooking he was to do, and he had told her that he had often done it while camping and would have no trouble. He sliced the potatoes and the bacon and when he considered the fire hot enough set the pans containing them on it, having first heated some fat for the potatoes.

Both the bacon and the potatoes began to sizzle, and Carl was turning the latter when the baby woke up. The child cried to be taken up, but Carl couldn't well leave his cooking, so he let it lie till he was afraid it would burst a blood vessel, when he went to it, a greasy fork in one hand and a towel in the other, and tried to soothe it. But the baby screamed harder and harder, as much as to say "If you don't take me up I'll commit suicide in spasms." Carl tried to coax it, then, losing his patience, scolded. Neither had any effect.

Meanwhile the fire was getting very hot, and suddenly the fat used in cooking the potatoes caught fire and threatened the destruction of the house. Carl tried to blow out the blaze. Failing in this, he seized a cloth and tried to fan it out. Then the baby ceased crying, and Carl, suspecting something wrong, looked at and saw that it was making one of those gasps for breath babies make between squawks. He ran to it. It recovered its breath and began again to yell in deadly rage. Carl ran from it to the potatoes, seized the blazing pan and threw the whole thing out of the door.

When a few minutes later Gretchen came home she found the potatoes in the yard, the bacon shriveled to one-tenth its proper size, and Carl was glaring at the baby as though tempted to throw it in the fire.

Seeing Gretchen, he threw the baby down and rushed from the house, followed by a peal of laughter.

The Colorado potato beetle, named because of the fact that it had its first home in the potato districts of that state, did but little damage in its native haunts for a number of years past until last season, when it proved a veritable scourge, in places moving in solid phalanxes and devastating many fields. While this beetle has spread in a comparatively few years over all of the central and eastern states, it strangely shows no inclination to move westward.

KEYSTONE GRANGE.

State Master Talks on Good Roads. Law Changes Demanded.

The Pennsylvania state grange held its thirty-seventh annual session in the state college. There were over 2,000 delegates and visiting members present. The sessions were held in the auditorium of the college. The public session program included an address by State Master Creasy, J. L. Holmes, representing the college; Secretary J. T. Altman, Dr. Edward Sparks of the college and J. H. McSparran of the legislative committee of the grange. The tour through the institution, made the next day, was full of interest and benefit to the visitors. The sixth degree was conferred on a class of 400 candidates. The executive committee in its report vigorously denounced the highway department as being incompetent and demanded a reorganization of it. The grange also asked for an equitable revision of the tax laws of the state and an amendment to the banking law to permit the encouragement of national banks to loan capital on real estate and mortgages. The grange denounced the Aldrich tariff bill, the central banking scheme and ship subsidy. The grange demanded proportional representation in the national grange. It favors a representative vote for ordinary questions, the state vote to be used only when demanded. The keynote of the session was that through legislation the farmers of Pennsylvania will come into their own. State Master Creasy in his annual address urged Patrons to make an effort to have men nominated for governor and for other public offices that would give them a "square deal." He urged all to attend the primaries. Commenting on good roads and road legislation, Mr. Creasy said:

"I believe that the workings of this township road law, with the full amount of $20 or $25 per mile appropriation, will make more good roads in ten years than the department can build in thirty years. We are anxious to have the state build as many roads as possible, but we believe some additional knowledge is necessary before good roads can be built with any lasting qualities. The cost of these state roads makes it impossible for many sections to receive any benefit from them. Then, again, the annual cost of repairing these state roads is anywhere from $400 to $1,500 per mile. Some townships cannot afford this because their roads must be kept in a passable condition. Dirt roads cost on an average at least $40 per mile per year. It is impossible to use all taxes collected for building a piece of good road and neglect the balance.

"The grange position on the road question is that since all use the roads all interests should contribute toward their maintenance and repair. A tax of 1 mill on corporate and personal property would make a good road fund that is fair, and we should stand by this grange plan."

Effective aid could be rendered to a forest conservation policy in many states were laws passed which would exempt from taxation areas set to orchard and forest trees or would at least postpone the levying of the tax until such time as the timber was cut or the fruit trees came to bearing age. In a case of the former kind which we came across the other day the assessor called on the owner of a thrifty and promising timber lot and, under the laws operative in the state, assessed the growing timber at its full value. He had done the same the year previous and will doubtless follow the same policy in the future. The upshot of this will be that the owner will cut the immature timber down before the assessor comes around next year. There is a manifest injustice in such a course which discerning legislators ought to correct. Rather than be taxed out of existence by such a stupid and shortsighted policy the taxation of timber lots ought to be so adjusted that encouragement would be given to the growing of them.

IF You Have it, Read This Letter
MI-O-NA is Guaranteed

"I was taken last August with a severe stomach trouble. The Doctor said it was nervous dyspepsia. I took his treatment four weeks, but did not feel any better. I took everything I heard of. The first day of December, 1908, I got a box of MI-O-NA. I took them that afternoon and the next day and haven't had one bit of pain in my stomach since the 2nd of December. I took five boxes. Feel well now, and sleep good—Mrs. M. E. Maxwell, R. F. D. 2, Avoca, N. Y.

MI-O-NA is surely the best prescription for indigestion ever written. It relieves after-dinner distress, belching of gas, foul breath, heartburn, etc., in five minutes.

It is guaranteed to permanently cure indigestion, acute or chronic, or any disease of the stomach or money back.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are sold by the People's Drug Store and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box.
